

Interested in ELECTRONICS?

North Seattle College offers multiple certifications in Electronics Technology, providing job training directed toward immediate employment and future advancement with companies specializing in manufacturing or servicing all types of electronic equipment. Electronic technicians work at agencies like NOAA, the Port of Seattle, in aerospace manufacturing, semiconductor manufacturers, navigational and measuring instrument manufacturers, and more.

ELECTRONICS TECHNOLOGY: Certificate & AAS Degree

ELECTRONICS ENGINEERING TECHNOLOGY AAS-T

AVIATION ELECTRONICS I & II: Wire Assembly/Electronics Technician

Pacific Associates is a partner in the Seattle Jobs Initiative Career Pathways Program, which supports Seattle residents in training programs at local colleges and in starting new careers in Manufacturing, Logistics and Automotive fields.

Students enrolled in our FREE program are eligible for help with:

- College and career navigation
- Tuition
- Legal issues/Criminal history
- Resume and interview preparation
- Exam and licensing fees
- Books and supplies

Basic eligibility requirements include:

- 18+ years old
- Able and willing to work in Washington State
- Income equal to or lower than shown on the table below:

Household Size	Average Monthly Income
1	$1,980
2	$2,670
3	$3,360
4	$4,050
5	$5,430

FOR MORE INFORMATION:

Contact Amanda See, Career Navigator with Pacific Associates

Phone: (206) 637-5148

Email: asee@pacassoc.com